SMOKES A BOON TO SOLDIERS WHO SAW

Many, Many Thanks Sent to Fund From Man Who Wields Cross Cut.

BIG PARTY ON TO-NIGHT

Next Saturday Will Take Place That Golf Match on

Staten Island.

The other day THE SUN Tobacco Fund had a glowing tribute from a horseshoeing brigade of the American Expeditionary Forces for the gifts of tobacco sent to them through its agency. Their card-roused comment by people who had never heard of this necessary arm of the service, although a little thought might easily have quelled their wonder.

To-day the fund publishes a card written on September 21 by a member of the saw detachment infantry, another branch which it is likely the non-combatant never heard of. It is safe to say that no army ever went abroad so completely equipped in all technical details as the present American Army now fighting on French soil, fighting on French soil.

But here is the card in question: "I want to send thanks to the kind person who sent us cigarettes through The Sun and I want to theak The Sun for taking the trouble to send them. We are far away from this kind of thing—smokes—and if we were right up to 'em where's the money to buy? We boys are all going to remember the kind inlings done for us and the people who do them. Many, many thanks."

The belief has been prevalent in the army, and especially among the rank and file, that after their series of lickings the Germans—that is, the German army—would cry "Kamerad!" the same as individuals do, and then wait an opportunity to stab in the back or throw a hand grenade. Our doughboys are contemptuous in their estimation of the trustworthiness of what the Hun says when he's licked, and in the soldiers' mail a line can be found that is worth following. In several cards this sentiment takes form in words like these: "Don't let the Hun tell you when we are coming home. We are going to start Walority of Their Service." coming home. Nebraska Pastor's Protest Over Nebraska Pastor's Protest Overruled in Unique Decision.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 18.—Neither the law of God nor the law of man—at least in Nebraska—prevents women from wearing men's clothes when they are angaged in war work, Attorney-General W. E. Reed ruled to-day.

This opinion was given to the Rev. W. B. Longpre of Maxwell, Neb., who wrote Gov. Keith Neville a letter saying the wearing of men's garments by women was against Bible doctrine and asking if it was contrary to State law.

Gov. Neville put the question up to the State's legal adviser and the opinion followed.

Up to the top of a flagstaff in front of the Altar of Liberty at Madison Square late yesterday afternoon fluttered a scarlet banner with a white centre, raised by Mrs. Robert Bacon and and the French flag on either side of the whole will terminate with general danc- altar, had hung iffeless, but just as the new banner reached the top the wind awoke and the scarlet folds flung out

Own Liberty Bonds Too. Among the women who wore the gold star were Mrs. Mary Kaltwasser, whose brother, Private Edmund Riordan, was killed in action; Mrs. Louis Findstets, one of whose sons is dead but the other is in the Aviation Corps, and Mrs. Lil-lian W. Philipoteaux, whose son fell to his death while testing airplanes. It to his death while testing airplanes. It seems as if the women who have done so much for their country could hardly be expected to do more, but these women did. In the last twenty-four hours the mothers of the old Sixty-ninth have bought Liberty bonds to the amount of $16,000. And that is "additional," for the mothers had already subscribed generously to the Fourth Liberty Loan. They didn't think anything of it. generously to the Fourth Liberty Loan.

They didn't think anything of it.
"Sacrifice bonds" others at the meeting called it, but not these mothers. "Sure, who would back up our boys if we didn't?" inquired one white haired woman in black as she looked up from signing her name to a pledge for a
